THE PROGRAM

It has been more than 10 years since the initial federal eDiscovery amendments took effect. Clients, attorneys, and vendors/partners have learned a lot both from their successful experiences and from their errors. This panel of seasoned industry veterans will present a lively discussion of lessons learned, advice to follow, and traps to avoid. We have progressed from “any and all relating or referring to” to a standard of reasonable and proportional to a claim or defense. However how should we go about managing this transition for the benefit of our clients?

Mike Bandemer, Berkeley Research Group LLC
