THE PROGRAM

Legal technology seems to change every time we look at it, and the changes are often confusing, especially when software vendors skew their descriptions to match their own products. Tom O'Connor will discuss the current trends in legal technology in plain English, not "tech talk," to help you understand what they are and how they work. He'll use common-sense definitions to describe features and dispel myths about technology topics such as AI, Predictive Coding, authentication of social media evidence, native file productions, and cybersecurity. Come prepared to ask questions because Tom prefers to engage everyone in a fact-filled session that will give you answers to help you better use technology in your practice.

THE SPEAKER

Tom O'Connor
Director of the Gulf Coast Legal Technology Center in New Orleans LA
