THE PROGRAM

Lawyers rely on mobile electronic devices—laptops, tablets, USB thumb drives and smartphones—for every part of their practice. Often, these devices contain or have application links to sensitive client materials, attorney-client communications, and work product. This panel will discuss the ethical obligations for lawyers when travelling with mobile devices across town or abroad. The panel will also discuss a U.S. Customs and Border Protection Directive issued January 4, 2018, and the implications of that Directive for lawyers and their clients. You won't want to miss this informative and entertaining program.
